LIST OF SETTLERS.

Historian George H. Himes Compiling Names of Oregon Pioneers.

George H. Himes, curator of the Oregon Historical Society, has returned from a three weeks' trip to Eastern Oregon and Washington, where he interviewed about 100 pioneers who came to this state between 1843 and 1857 and gained more or less information and documentary material from each for the records which he is compiling of the early history of this state, says the Sunday Oregon Journal. He visited Hood River, The Dalles, Pendleton, La Grande, Baker City and Walla Walla.

He discovered several interesting relics which he has added to the museum. Among them is an old rifle which was taken from an Indian grave on the Washington side of the Columbia, opposite Umatilla. It has been buried at least 50 years and was at one time a fine weapon.

A group picture of the lower house of the state legislature of 1864 was also added to the museum. It is of much historical interest. Among those in the picture who are now living are Benjamin Simpson, the father of Post Sam Simpson; P. W. Gillette, Rufus Mallory and C. A. Reed of Portland, W. H. Conyers of Clatskanie, Samuel Kerns of Eugene, John Minto of Salem, and C. P. Blair of Pendleton. The picture was presented to Mr. Himes by Thomas Blair, the son of C. P. Blair.

Mr. Himes is endeavoring to make a complete list of the early settlers of this state by years and has already succeeded in completing the list for 1840, 1841 and 1842. He is now working on the lists for the three succeeding years. He has about 700 names for each year. He is very anxious that any pioneers whose names he has not already procured write him, giving their names, date of birth, year of arrival in Oregon, their first and their present locations. As soon as these lists are completed they will be published.

Are You Lucky?

If you are, take a look at Tallman's drug store window on Thursday, November 17, and then take a guess at the money that you will see displayed therein. Probably your guess will be productive of two of the best reserved seats for the performance of "Darkest Russia," at the Frazer opera house, Thursday evening, November 17. This is a guessing contest inaugurated by Manager Taylor, and every one has an equal chance to secure these tickets. It all depends on how near you can guess the exact amount of money in the window.

William Cantan, a miner at Muddy mine, near Douglas, Wyo., resisted robbers and was shot dead. Reyes Claudio, a Mexican, is under arrest.
